"Working with Effective Digital has allowed my company to win business from many large, new clients based upon the systems that they have created for Icx.

Their ability to create professional looking and easily customisable demo tools and presentations has assisted in us successfully winning millions of pounds worth of business.

To this end, the work that Effective Digital produce has significantly contributed to the continued growth and success of our company.

I would be happy to recommend Effective Digital with confidence to anyone requiring a professional and efficient website solution."

Giles Cole
Icex Recycling.

Icex Recycling operates a corporate IT equipment recycling business dealing with large quantities and high value IT equipment from many blue chip companies.

Effective Digital has developed a number of corporate websites to compliment the varying facets of Icx's business, along with multimedia presentations and a selection of "demonstration tools" that allow Icx to win their own new business.

Because of the success of the demonstration tools, they have grown into full business applications and reporting tools allowing board level clients to login and perform accurate, real time analysis of their transactions. The interface allows users with different access privileges to view specific reports and data and a comprehensive search tool has been developed to facilitate quicker and more comprehensive reporting.

Both Icx and Effective Digital continue to expand their businesses and both parties are looking forward to introducing new modules and features to the existing systems that were developed, plus the addition of new and enhanced tools as required.
